

WITNESS ADMITS BUYING DRUG BUT SAYS GIRL REQUESTED IT CLAIMING IT WAS FOR LOTION

Coroner Marriott Has Two More Witnesses to Examine In Minnie Gunder Case and Will Not Announce Decision for Day or Two—Funeral Held Sunday

Dr. L. L. Marriott, coroner of Licking county, arrived from St. Louisville after 3 o'clock Monday afternoon to finish taking testimony in the case of Minnie Gunder, the young woman who died under mysterious and distressing circumstances at Kinkersville last Friday morning.

Late Saturday afternoon the coroner heard the testimony of eight witnesses, including the two doctors who conducted the postmortem examination at Kinkersville Friday afternoon. Dr. Rutledge of Kinkersville, the physician who was at Miss Gunder's side a few minutes after she fell to the pavement, was also an important witness examined. It will be remembered that Dr. Rutledge offered the dying girl medicine to relieve her, but she refused to take it, and also declined to talk about her condition.

The most important witness before the coroner however, the Advocate learns on good authority, though the hearing was not public, was a young married man whose name has been connected with the case. It is alleged that this man testified that he bought in Newark an ounce of oil of tansy and gave it to Miss Gunder, but he maintained that he made the purchase at Miss Gunder's request and that she told him that the drug was to be used in the preparation of a toilet article for her complexion.

As Tuesday will be Christmas day, and as the coroner will not finish his examination of witnesses until late Monday evening, the decision will not be given for two or three days.

Miss Gunder's funeral took place at Kinkersville Sunday afternoon, the Rev. D. C. Kite of Johnstown conducting the services.

PROBATE HAS NO JURISDICTION TO TRY CRIMINAL CASES UNDER THE VALENTINE ANTI-TRUST LAW

—Judge Duncan's Decision.

Findlay, O., Dec. 24.—Judge Duncan, in a decision rendered in the Standard Oil cases, this morning, decided that the probate court has no jurisdiction to try criminal prosecutions under the Valentine anti-trust law. The $5,000 fine imposed upon the Standard Oil company is therefore invalid, as well as all the proceedings in the probate court. The case will be carried to the circuit and supreme courts just as quickly as it is possible to do so, and a decision is expected from both these courts within three months.

The decision as to the indictments against John D. Rockefeller and other Standard Oil officials, has been deferred until some future time no date being given by Judge Duncan.

Judge Duncan held that court statutes, contain no provision whereby service may be had upon a corporation, the probate court has no jurisdiction to try either an individual or a corporation under the Valentine law, Section 6472, Revised Statutes, providing that the provision governing criminal proceedings in the court of common pleas shall, so far as applicable, govern the proceedings in the probate court was not intended as an addition to jurisdiction and therefore does not authorize the probate court to borrow from the common pleas criminal code the provisions therein contained providing a way to get a corporation into that court charged with a criminal offense, he holds.

The court of common pleas Judge Duncan holds, has exclusive original jurisdiction in all criminal prosecution under the Valentine anti-trust act.

Prosecutor David would not discuss the decision. He stated that as soon as he got more light on the subject he would bring prosecutions anew. David said several weeks ago in an interview, should his information proceedings be declared void, the Standard Oil officials would be indicted by a regular grand jury which would convene here January 7.

NEW BUILDING
ON SECOND STREET
COMPANY IS FORMED

The Brown Realty Company, of this city, $50,000, was incorporated by D. C. Brown, T. E. Brown, Jane Brown, Sadie D. Brown and Charles S. Brown, on Saturday. It is the intention of the company to erect a large brick building on the site of the Brown feed store on South Second street. According to the present idea of the promoters the structure will be three stories high, with a front of 100 feet and a depth of 200 feet. The work of construction will probably be commenced early in the spring.

BLEW OUT GAS

Ft. Wayne, Ind., Dec. 24.—B. Huston, 55, and F. K. Ruse, 35, of Auburn Junction, were found dead in bed at Riverside Hotel this morning. Upon re-igniting last night they blew out the gas.

BOOM FOR TAFT.

Boston, Dec. 24.—While the Massachusetts congressmen are home for the holidays, a "native son" demonstration will be started in favor of the presidential candidacy of William H. Taft. To class the secretary as a "native son," requires rather a stretch of sentiment, but he was a member of a well known Worcester county family.

J. S. Gilliland and an unknown man were burned to death in a railroad car at St. Louis. Gilliland was moving from Northboro, Ia., to Marlin, I. T. An oil stove in the car was tipped over.

WOUNDS SIX MEN

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 24.—Of the six men wounded by Tom Wilson, who ran amuck in the business section of this city, Policeman Pete Barde-maker is dying and Homer Still is in a critical condition. The other four men were not seriously hurt. Posses organized after the shooting are still hunting Wilson, but seem to have lost the trail. It is understood Wilson renewed his supply of ammunition, and if surrounded he is expected to fight to the death. No explanation for Wilson's actions has been advanced, but it is assumed he was either crazy or of a ferocious temper.

HE DECLINES TITLE

London, Dec. 24.—James Bryce it would appear, has declined a peerage, but at any rate he will go to the United States as British ambassador without changing his name, and thus be the first plain citizen to represent his country at Washington, and, says the Chronicle, "Americans who know and honor him as James Bryce will esteem him all the more because he declined a title."

REFUSE TO ENLIST.

Seattle, Dec. 24.—The refusal of the enlisted men of the Second Battalion Third Infantry, stationed at Fort Lawton, to reenlist at the expiration of their terms has alarmed the officers. The battalion was sent to Alaska nearly three years ago, after being recruited to the full strength of 65 men. The new companies do not average over 45 each.

Charles Lapoint of Ogdensburg, N. Y., 60, was arrested at Marinette, Wis., on the charge of eloping with his granddaughter, Edith Lapoint, 15. The girl was also held.

THIS IS NOT THE ONLY HOUSE THAT FAITHFUL OLD SANTA CLAUS WILL VISIT TONIGHT.

UTICA CHURCH MAY RECONSIDER THE ELDERSHIP

Utica, O., Dec. 24.—It is learned on good authority that the action taken at the congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church here Saturday afternoon when the instruction of the commission from the presbytery to elect elders by the rotary system was turned down, as wired the Advocate, will be considered again, and will be referred to the commission a second time.

The rotary system, advised, and in fact, ordered by the commission, is that a certain number of elders be chosen, the terms of a part of the number to expire each year. That is, for instance, there are nine elders chosen. By the rotary system the terms of three of these elders expire each year. The custom in the Utica church has been that the elders be chosen once for life or good behavior.

It is believed that because the commission advised the change in the choosing of elders, some of the present elders and their friends looked upon the order as a slight reflection, and at once went to work among their friends in the church toward voting down the order of the commission. It is also hinted that several members of the church not desiring to vote against the other members of the church, remained away from Saturday's meeting.

It is in the power of the presbytery to appoint another commission after the present one has disposed of its share of the work and it is held in some that another commission might have more influence with the Utica church.

The vote of Saturday is regarded as a vindication of the present board of elders in the Pastor Gay case.

VIOLENT EARTHQUAKE.

Berkeley, Cal., Dec. 24.—The seismograph at the University of California today recorded an earthquake of great violence which occurred at a distance of about 4,000 miles. It was on one and a half minutes' duration.

TWO ASPHYXIATED

Washington, Dec. 24.—Charles H. Turner, a carpenter of this city, 50 years old and married, and an unidentified young woman, possibly from Kansas City, Mo., were found dead in bed from asphyxiation at a small hotel at 622 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, where they registered as "I. M. Minon and wife." The couple had been drinking.

FATAL FIRE AT CHICAGO GAS PLANT

Chicago, Dec. 24.—An explosion and fire at the plant of the Northwestern Gas light and Coke company at Evanston, 12 miles north of here, resulted in the death of Isaac Terry and serious injury to three other men, all workmen employed by the gas company. The fire occurred in a pit where tar coke and oil were stored. Terry was thrown into the pit by the explosion and burned to death.

STRANGE CASE OF IDA MILLER IS NOW EXPLAINED

Philadelphia, Dec. 24.—In the Philadelphia case in which Dr. Kuchin was held pending the solution of the disappearance of Ida Miller, young and wealthy heiress of that city, the young woman appeared yesterday, asserting as the doctor had insisted that she had married the physician and had been on a trip to Ireland to look after her father's estate. She says an effort is being made to disprove her of her inheritance.

HOTEL BURNS

Albert Brown, Guest at Bay City, Sleeping on Fourth Floor Had a Narrow Escape.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 24.—The Fraser House, the oldest and largest hotel in this city, was completely destroyed by fire. The flames were discovered by the night clerk who aroused all the guests and inmates. John O'Neil, the hotel fireman, was overcome by smoke and is probably fatally injured. Albert Brown, a guest of the hotel, who was sleeping on the fourth floor had a narrow escape from death. Finding escape by the stairway cut off, he crawled out on a window ledge. Before he could be reached with ladders, his strength failed and he fell to the electric light wires below. There he clung until rescued by the firemen. The loss is upwards of $50,000.

MR. ROOSEVELT WILL STAND BY HIS DECISION

PRESIDENT RISKS IMPEACHMENT IN HIS STAND AGAINST COLORED SOLDIERS.

A RESOLUTION BY CONGRESS

Will be Voted—If Passed Over Veto Will Nullify Action in the Other Way.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The President will run the risk of impeachment in fighting any attempt from Congressional or other sources to interfere with his action in dismissing without honor the members of the three companies of the Twenty-fifth Infantry alleged to have been concerned in the Brownsville riots of last August.

He is thoroughly convinced his action in this matter was the only right course to pursue in order to preserve discipline of the army and protect citizens from similar outbreaks in the future and he will fight to the bitter end against any attempt to undo what he has done by restoring the dismissed colored soldiers to the military service.

It can be said on the highest authority that if Congress passes a resolution ordering the restoration of the three companies of the army, he will veto it.

If Congress repudiate the resolution over his veto he will endeavor to nullify this action by the exercise of his executive power and his authority as commander in chief of the military and naval forces of the United States.

The fact that this course may bring about his impeachment will have no deterrent effect on him. He has made up his mind that he has only done his duty in the premises and he will stand by his action whatever the consequences.

It is no objection to a Congressional investigation of the circumstances leading up to and surrounding the dismissal of the colored troops. He would as soon see such an investigation and he means to be fully prepared for it if it comes.

Not satisfied with the investigation already made by army officials he has sent to Brownsville Assistant Adjutant General Purd for the purpose of securing additional light on the relations between the citizens of that town and the colored troops, and the conduct of the troops on various occasions preceding the August 13 outbreak as well as the new facts obtainable relative to the affair.

FRENCH REPLY

Rome, Dec. 24.—The vatican says the French government has not sent a telegraphic circular to its representatives abroad in answer to the protest of the holy see concerning the sequestration of the nunciature at Paris and the expulsion of Mgr. Montagnini, but has merely communicated with the diplomats accredited to Paris.

CAPT. MACKLIN WILL RECOVER AT EL RENO

El Reno, Okla., Dec. 24.—The condition of Captain Edgar A. Macklin, who was shot by a robber at his residence at Fort Reno last Friday night, is improved and recovery is assured. The robber has not yet been arrested, nor do the detectives in the case seem to have any positive knowledge of the man's identity or his whereabouts. It is believed he caught a train at Arlington station, four miles distant, and to which point his trail was followed by bloodhounds.

SENATOR MORGAN WITH PRESIDENT ON TEXAS AFFAIR

Washington, Dec. 24.—That there is going to be a queer lineup in the senate over the President's position in the Brownsville Tex. affair is evident from the declaration from Senator John L. Morgan, the veteran Democrat of Alabama, who heretofore has opposed the President or nearly every policy he ever advanced politically and otherwise. Referring to the President's order dismissing the negro soldiers without honor, Mr. Morgan today said:

It is lawful and just. It has stirred the negro race almost everywhere into a violent demonstration and these politicians have taken up the hue and cry and are assailing the President with all their might. Under such conditions it will require the disbanding of all negro regiments. The act of the president is not suicidal.

Porter Kills Two Negroes.

Columbus, Ga., Dec. 24.—The negro porter on the Central of Georgia passenger train that left Columbus for Macon shot and killed two negroes at Juniper station. The negroes were creating a disturbance and the porter attempted to eject them. They resisted, attacking the porter with knives.

Mrs. Alice Lincoln McWhitney and her two children, Helen 6, and Elizabeth 4, were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their home at Pompton Lakes, N. J.

HICKS RESCUED FROM HIS TOMB IN CALIFORNIA

MINER BURIED ALIVE NEARLY 16 DAYS TALKS OF HIS EXPERIENCE

MAN RAPIDLY RECOVERING

Not Emaciated as Expected—Was Fed for Days Through 70
Foot Pipe.

Bakersfield, Cal., Dec. 24.—Lindsey B. Hicks, released late Saturday night from an entombment of 15 days in a cave in tunnel, today appeared well and happy after his gruesome experience, spending much time in receiving the congratulations of friends and neighbors, to whom he related as best he could the feelings he underwent within the dark, close quarters of his tomb-like prison near the dead bodies of five less fortunate companions, while scores of men worked like beavers day and night for more than two weeks to save him from death by digging through many feet of earth and rock.

Hicks was once a soldier and he is said to carry some Indian blood in his veins. His bravery under the trying conditions won for him the admiration of hundreds of persons who watched the progress of his exhumation. So strong was Hicks at the finish that he helped to scrape away the last barrier of earth and crawled, with slight assistance, from death to life.

Hicks was not emaciated. He was so strong that the stimulants that had been prepared for him were not needed. His beard was thick and stubby, but not as long as might be expected. His face and hands were dirty, but his clothing was fairly clean and in good condition.

It was 11:25 o'clock Saturday night when Hicks was released. The last cut on the shift was made at 11:12 o'clock and no sooner was the segment of debris removed and the way left open than Hicks began to scrape away the rocks and earth and crawl toward the opening.

With arms in front of his head he went into the miniature tunnel and began to work his way slowly through to the other side of the dam near which he has remained during the excavating. When he had progressed about half way he stopped. Then Hicks moved a few inches further toward freedom and his arms were seized by Dr. Stinchfield and Miner Gents. The two, exerting all their strength, pulled the miner into the main tunnel, where he was placed in a sitting position.

While working on a tunnel that was building by the Edison Power company, near Bakersfield, on December 7, the vertical walls of a deep cut fell in on Hicks and five fellow workmen. It was first thought that all had perished under the hundreds of tons of rock and earth. Three days later a tapping on the iron rail of the little tramway running through the drift gave the first intimation that a man was still alive buried beneath the debris.

A 70-foot pipe, two inches in diameter, was immediately forced through the debris. It reached the spot where Hicks was entombed. A heavy dirt car had become wedged in the debris in such a way as to keep the immense weight from crushing him.

When Hicks pulled the wooden plug from the iron pipe and called to the men above him, his voice sounded like one from the grave. Through the pipe the men working on top learned from Hicks that for several hours after the cave-in he had talked with companions, but that they had become silent and he believed they were dead.

By means of the pipe Hicks kept in communication with a big force of rescuers at once organized. Milk was poured down the pipe. This was the only sustenance it was possible to give the man for nearly two weeks.

Hicks in an interview said: "To a flickering match, to a rock loose and within grasping distance with which to signal at the moment when to have had nothing would have meant death. I owe my life. After the first shock, when consciousness came I did not fully realize the situation. I did not for hours. I lay there for hours, days, before I heard any sound. I thought for a time after the pipe came in that the men were fooling me as to the duration of time. I had estimated the time in my own way and figured that I had been in there 12 days before the pipe came in."

Ontario government sold the mining rights in the bed of Lake Cobalt to a syndicate for $1,085,000.

Fire practically destroyed the big St. Stanislaus parochial school at Chateaufort. The loss is about $250,000.

Grandma's Christmas Mistake

By Frank H. Sweet

COPYRIGHT, 1906.

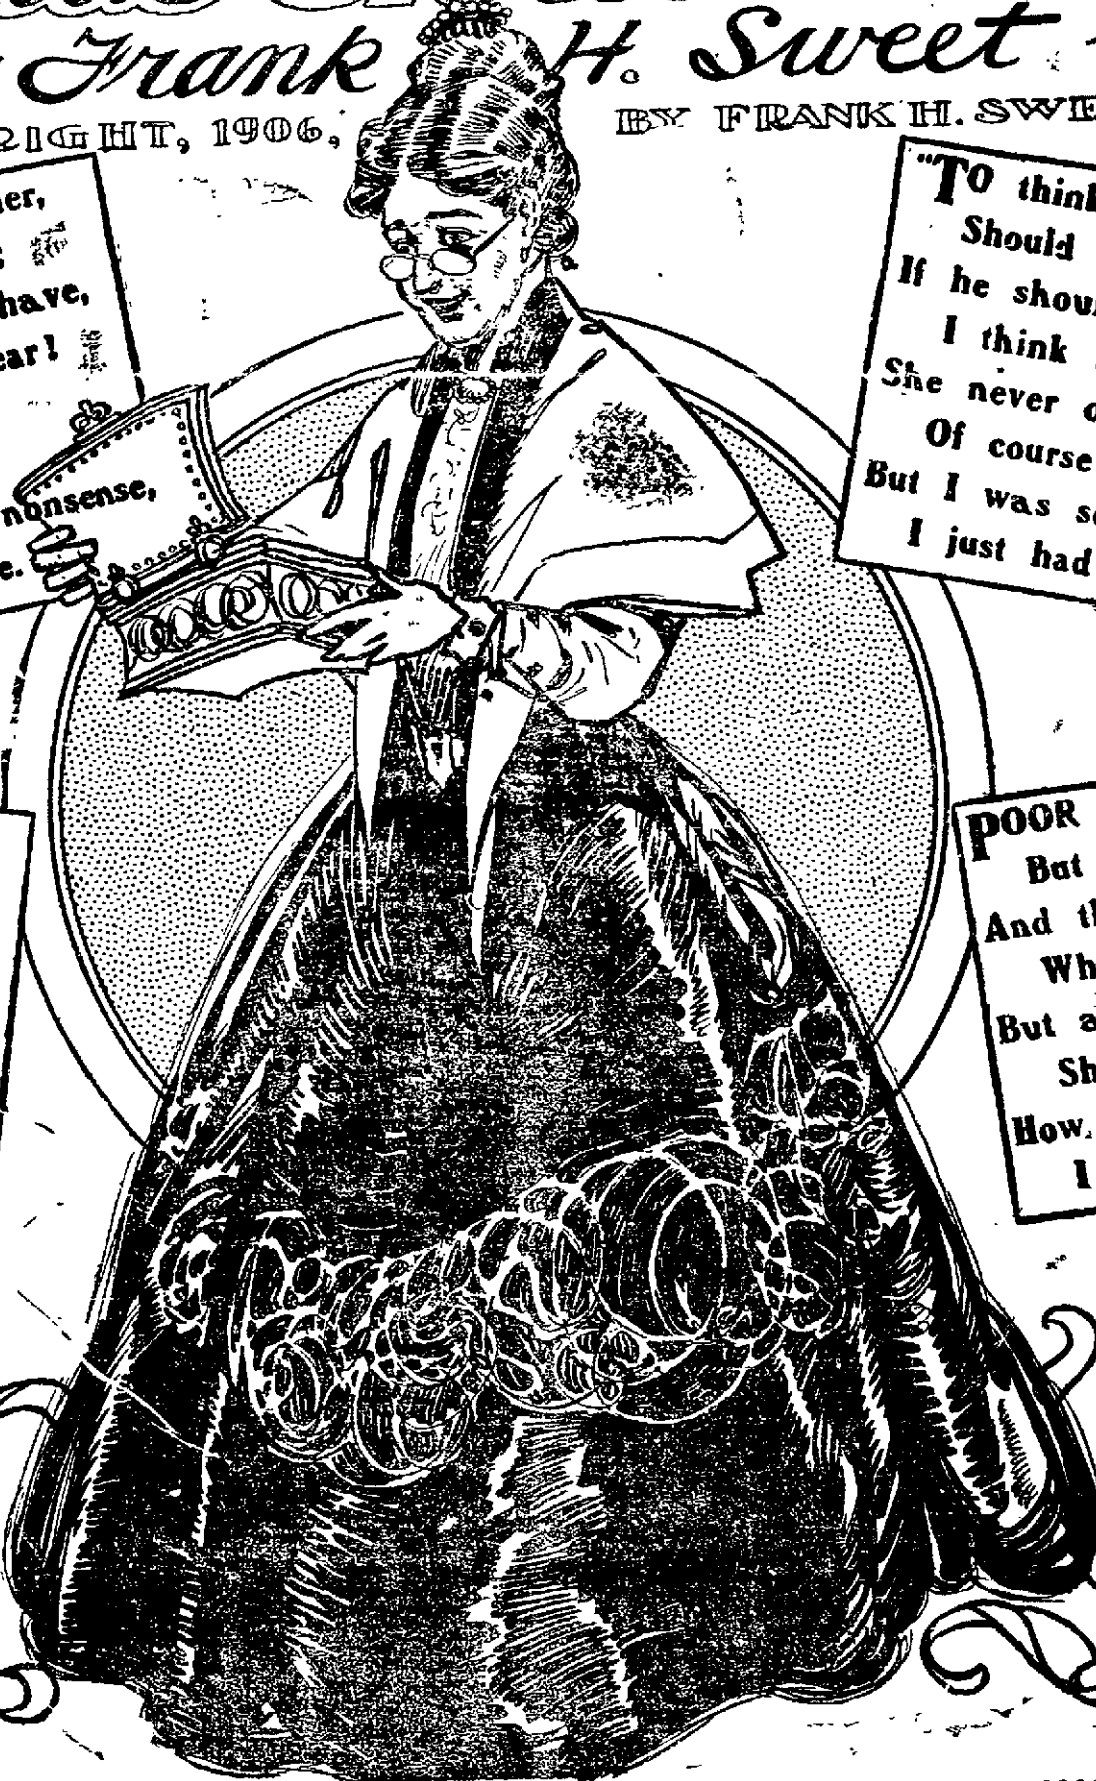

BY FRANK H. SWEET

POOR grandma! I do hate to tell her,
And yet it does seem very queer;
She's lived so much longer than I have,
And I—why, I've known it a year!
Even Alice begins to look doubtful,
And she is so babyish, too,
And mamma slyly laughs at the nonsense,
But grandma believes it is true.

"To think that the funny old fellow
Should notice I needed just this!
If he should come in here this morning,
I think I should give him a kiss!"
She never once looked at me—never!
Of course I had nothing to say,
But I was so mortified, truly,
I just had to run right away.

I DID it all up in brown paper
And laid it just there by her plate.
She put on her glasses so slowly
I thought that I never could wait.
But when she had opened the bundle,
"My patience," she said, "how complete—
A dear little box for my knitting!
Now, isn't old Santa Claus sweet?"

POOR grandma! I do hate to tell her,
But some day, of course, she'll find out,
And then she will laugh to remember
What once she was puzzled about.
But as for that beautiful workbox
She laid with such care on the shelf—
How can she think Santa Claus brought it?
I made the thing for her myself.

THIS AND THAT

May every Advocate reader have the merriest of Christmases tomorrow.

You won't have the good of Christmas unless you give; not in return for like favors past or expected, but where it cannot be returned in kind.

Of course, be happy yourself, but don't forget to make as many others happy as possible.

There is another thing that the early shopper avoided, and that is the finger mark decoration that causes the merchant so much trouble.

Don't blame the mail carrier or the street car conductor for being cross just at the present time.

Bad enough to be a city mail carrier and haul Christmas packages a short distance. How about the trouble of the rural carrier with a twenty mile route.

Santa Claus will be able to go around tonight with his traditional reindeer and sleigh.

Your home merchant helps to pay the taxes of your home city and county. He is therefore more deserving of your trade than a "mail order" house a thousand miles away.

Some Newark people go to Columbus to do their shopping. Why they do this is a mystery, as things in Newark are much cheaper and just as good as can be found in Columbus.

This sparkling weather gives Christmas cheer to the hearts and tends to help along the gift giving.

If you desire to make an absent relative or friend a Christmas present that will be a pleasant reminder of your thoughtfulness for a whole year, send him or her the Daily or Semi-Weekly Advocate.

Representatives of a syndicate that is to build a new theatre in Steubenville were in Newark the latter part of last week looking for a site for a new play house.

The holiday shoppers of Newark are now on the home stretch and there is every indication that there will be a neck and neck finish tonight.

Not many years ago electrically lighted Christmas trees were a great novelty and people flocked around the windows of electrical supply houses to look at them. Now electrical Christmas tree outfits are regular items of electrical supplies production and staple articles of sale at this season. You can buy an outfit for a small tree, one with eight lamps, all neatly packed in a paste-board box no bigger than could be comfortably carried in one's overcoat pocket. The Christmas tree outfits are operated by battery, or the festoon wires can be attached to the house current. Some Newark homes this Christmas will have Christmas trees brilliantly lighted with colored electrical bulbs adorned with ornaments and hung with beautiful Christmas gifts.

Good music, good skates, largest skating surface. Crescent rink on Christmas afternoon and evening. 21

Indian Schools.
Washington, Dec. 24.—The annual report of Miss Estelle Reel, superintendent of Indian schools, indicates that manual training is becoming a feature of education among the Indians and with entirely satisfactory results. The superintendent has visited practically all the Indian schools during the year, and reports that more teachers are recognizing the special characteristics of the Indian, and consequently better methods of teaching prevail. The teaching of cooking and home laundry work now occupies a permanent place in the regular course.

Farmer's Death.
Emporia, Kan., Dec. 24.—Mystery surrounds the death in a hospital here of Monroe Morgan, 65, a wealthy farmer, who was found in an unconscious condition on the outskirts of Emporia. It is believed that Mr. Morgan was robbed and given poison.

POOL EXPERT GAVE GOOD EXHIBITION

FANCY POOL AND BILLIARD WORK WHICH ASTONISHED THE NATIVES.

Expert Hood is Something of a Monologue Artist as Well as Good Pool Shot.

A monologue artist combined with pool and billiard expert is a rarity not found in everyday travels, yet that is just what a small crowd saw and heard at the Orphium pool and billiard parlor recently opened by Harvey Marple in the south room of the Chilcote and Jones block, also known as the Orphium theater building. Mr. Marple advertised Joe Hood, the Eastern expert cue artist for an exhibition Saturday night. Hood was all that was claimed in the announcements and the spectators were more than pleased with his exhibition.

Mr. Hood holds the championship of the New England states as an expert and fancy pool shot and billiardist and he well sustained his reputation Saturday night. He started out by giving an illustration of "choy stick" pool, using two cues in making all sorts of pool shots. Mr. Hood would pick up his cue ball with the two sticks and allow the ball to roll from them to the table and against the object ball, accomplishing the same results as any pool player, pocketing each ball as he called them.

He followed this with an exhibition of fancy shots and made many seemingly impossible shots with ease and neatness which pleased his audience. During the whole time Mr. Hood handed out a line of talk which would have done credit to the comedians on the stage next door.

He concluded his exhibition with the famous and justly sensational stunt of banking nine balls against three cushions and into a small area drawn in one corner of the table. The object of the shot was to have the whole nine balls in motion without allowing one to cross the path of the others. Another similar shot was the banking of fifteen balls one after the other, each stopping in the circle in the corner.

Mr. Marple has fitted up an attractive pool and billiard parlor and has on up to date cigar and tobacco department in connection.

DIGESTION DECIDES IT.

Life is a ceaseless struggle for success because success is supposed to insure happiness.

Ambition and ability make for success, but without health too, failure is more than probable.

If the digestion is poor, the nerves unsteady, the blood thin, the weight less than it should be, and ambition and energy at low tide because of stomach trouble, failure is almost a certainty.

INTERURBAN MEN VISIT MT. VERNON

IMPORTANCE OF PROPOSED LINE BETWEEN NEWARK AND MANSFIELD.

Prominent Officials Looking Over the Territory Which Will be Scene of Operations.

Mr. C. N. Wilcox, general manager of the Cleveland and Southern Traction Co., and Mr. L. M. Wolf, secretary of the Ohio Central Traction Co., have just visited Mt. Vernon. They were looking after matters in connection with projected interurban railways through this section.

In connection with summing up the interurban railway situation, the Mansfield Shield has the following: The Plymouth and Shelby line is in process of construction. The Mandelbaum lines extends as far as Bucyrus and Gallon. The Mansfield, Mt. Vernon and Newark line will be built. The line between Ashland and Mansfield is being built.

When the Plymouth and Shelby line is completed it will close the gap between Sandusky, Norwalk and between Norwalk and Cleveland. When the gap is completed a Mansfield man or woman can take a Shelby interurban car and then take the Plymouth line and go as far as Norwalk and then to Cleveland or Sandusky.

There is a link now between Marion and Gallon which will be closed and which will enable people to ride from Mansfield to Columbus and thence to the southern part of the state. The completion of the projected line from Mansfield to Mt. Vernon and Newark will enable the travelers to go from Mansfield to Newark to Columbus or to Springfield and Dayton and Cincinnati.

POLO.

Like old wine, the polo games at the Palace rink are improving as time rolls by. The game Saturday night between Utica and Newark is by far the best example of the game yet seen in Newark. And Newark was defeated too. There was consolation in the defeat, however, when it is known that it required an extra period of 18 minutes for Utica to administer this defeat.

The game was witnessed by a good crowd and the fans were enthusiastic in their rooting for both the Newark and Utica players. Lineup and summary:

Newark (4): Heath first rush; Barker, second rush; Smart, center. Thomas, halfback; Sweetzer, goal. Utica (5): P. Sulbach, first rush; L. Sulbach, second rush; Harter, center; Pierce, halfback; Wied, goal.

Newark 1 1 2 0—4
Utica 1 2 1 1—5

Summary: Rushes, Heath 10, Sulbach 1. Goals, Heath 2; Barker 2; P. Sulbach 3; L. Sulbach 1; Harter 1; Fouls, L. Sulbach—Stops, Wied 16; Sweetzer 13. Referee, Daken. Timer, Roeser.

Newark will play Mt. Vernon at Mt. Vernon Christmas afternoon; and in the evening the Knox county team will come to Newark for a game at the Palace rink. The game will be called at 8:30 o'clock as usual.

A match game of quintet between two local teams will be rolled Christmas morning on the Hayes alleys for a snug sum of money on the side. The game will be exciting as both teams have been training for the event.

Dr. O'Hara won the prize offered for high quintet score on the Hayes alleys last week. He rolled 67. H. Jones won the pipe for high ten pin score, rolling 213.

There is nothing unlucky in the number 13 when bowlers are rolling on the Hayes alleys. Last week both the quintet and ten pin scores which won prizes contained the number 13. Dr. O'Hara rolled 67 in quintet. Adding the two you gets 13. H. Jones rolled 213 in ten pins.

Postoffice Box Rent.
Deputy Postmaster Siegfried says that the postoffice department has ruled that all box rents must be collected at the beginning of each quarter, for the entire quarter, but no longer. Ten days before the last day of each quarter postmasters will be required to place a bill bearing the date of the last day of the quarter, in each rented box. If a box holder fails to renew his right to his box on or before the last day of the quarter
the box shall then be closed and offered for rent, and the mail will be placed in the general delivery. Heretofore the notices of rent due were not given until the quarter had expired, the patron being given ten days of the new quarter in which to make a renewal. Up to this date Postmaster Hefsey has received no notice from the department of box rents in the Newark office having been raised, as has been the case in nearly all the adjacent cities.

Collision of Vehicles.
A Mrs. Priest, who lives a short distance east of Newark, came to the city on Monday morning with a load of turkeys for the trade, and while driving along the street on the east side of the square, a man who was unknown to her, and who was driving a double team, collided with her wagon, tearing off one of the wheels
and spilling the turkeys in the street.
The man did not wait to see what damage had been done, but drove swiftly away, leaving the poor wo-

ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL

NINE MEN GET AWAY DURING HOURS OF SERVICE IN CINCINNATI.

Used Saw and Hammer to Make Escape—Four Prisoners Are Recaptured.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 24.—Sunday
nine men escaped from Hamilton county jail. Among those who escaped were some desperate criminals, including Clarence Henri, arrested in New York, who stole the famous picture,
"Girl Knitting," from Cincinnati Art museum. The others that escaped are Hugh Gastright, John Curtis, George
Sherrod, William Saunders, Edward Ness, Frank Kammi, Joseph Thatcher and J. Sulton.

The prisoners made their escape
during church service hours, at which time more liberty than usual is permitted. Their escape was effected by unlocking a door which leads to a narrow passage leading to the areaway
between the outer wall and the cell block. Here two ladders were found and spliced together by bed clothing,
and one of the bars to the outer window was sawed and shoved aside. The spliced ladder was placed from the window ledge to the top of a one-story structure in the jail yard, from the roof of which the prisoners dropped 20 feet to the ground. A small boy saw the men as they ran onto the street and immediately notified those in the office of the jailer.

Four of the prisoners, Thatcher, Sherrod, Kammi and Curtis, have been recaptured.

FEARED IT WOULD BE VOTED DOWN.

Ed. Advocate—People are watching with much interest the efforts of the Advocate to smoke out the reasons why the water works bond issue was not submitted at the regular election instead of at a special election.

The refusal of the parties responsible to explain is evidence that there was a fear that if all the people were given a chance to vote the $250,000 proposition would be defeated. And this is the bes treason in the world why it should be voted down now in spite of the in convenience of a special election and the stormy weather
that may prevail.

AMUSEMENTS

CHRISTMAS OFFERING.

The press of the continent has been unanimous in its praise of Kathryn Osterman, the charming comedienne who essays the role of Brindeumond in "The Girl Who Looks Like Me." Mrs. Osterman, who made a great reputation in vaudeville and the drama, is put as big a success in light comedy and farce and in "The Girl Who Looks Like Me" she has made an emphatic hit whenever the play has appeared. "The comedy has the unique distinction of being the only one where all the fun is supplied by the women of the cast. There is nothing suggestive or risque in the play, which is a laugh producer of unusual merit. The goings and jewels were by Mr. O'Connell cause the women in the audience unbounded delight. Christmas matinee and

JOHNNY WISE.

Comedians who are well and favorably known will be seen at the Auditorium Wednesday, December 26,
at the head of one of the biggest musical comedies ever brought to this city. It is entitled "Johnny Wise," and well does it bear its reputation as a purveyor of healthy entertainment. Pretty girls will be found in abundance and the company has been selected with the greatest care.
Gorgeous electrical effects, beautiful scenery, bright music.

OLD HOMESTEAD.

Mr. Thompson's delightful play will be here Thursday night, and no doubt the success of the past twenty years will be duplicated. All the important scenic effects and the same excellent cast, including the famous double quartet, are promised. Thursday night, December 27.

MY WIFE'S FAMILY.

"My Wife's Family" is the attraction booked for the Auditorium Friday, December 28, matinee and night.
There have been and still are many productions which cause occasional outbursts of laughter or applause, but there are very few which keep an audience in good humor from the rise until the final drop of the curtain. This, however, is the record of Stephens & Linton's "My Wife's Family," a merry musical mixup.

FIELD'S MINSTRELS.

There is no form of amusement
nor is there an art that is so universal in its appeal as music. Ned H.
Brill's celebrated concert band, the best organization of its kind on the road, accompanies the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels this season. Each member of the band is a musician in the fullest sense of the word. In the matter of selecting his music, Bandmaster Brill selects music that appeals to all, and the "very latest compositions" is his motto. The band gives two free open air concerts in this city, with a street parade in the morning at 11:30 and a concert at 7.30 p. m. Auditorium matinee and night, December 29.

PUSHING THE BALL AT THE STOCK EXCHANGE

You can never tell about Christmas on the New York Stock Exchange. At five minutes before closing time on the last evening of trading before Christmas the members appear to have everything else in the world on their minds but merry Yuletide. Of course, there are decorations, evergreens strung over everything, Christmas bells suspended from every stand, a platform over the telephone booths and an unusual number of visitors in the gallery, but no attention is paid to them, and an eighth appears to be the most precious thing on earth.

But when that old gong sounds there comes a yell which would do credit to some of Dante's characters in the original subway. It shakes the building, and is followed by a shower of tape, order pads and everything else movable.

Dec. 23 In History.

1777—Alexander I. of Russia born; died Dec. 1, 1825.
1788—Thomas Macdonough, American naval commander and hero of the battle on Lake Champlain, born in New Castle, Del.; died 1825. Macdonough's brilliant victory over the British on Sept. 11, 1814, was gained by sheer pluck. The commander formed his line in a manner that compelled the British ships to pass between the American vessels. His flagship, the Saratoga, decided the fight. After the engaged guns had been disabled, the ship was cleverly brought around, giving play to a fresh broadside. The British flagship struck the Saratoga, and the British commander was killed. Macdonough was made captain for his brilliant services.
1795—Sir Henry Clinton, British commander in America during the Revolution, died at Gibraltar; born 1728.
1839—Henry Woodfin Grady, editor and orator, leader of the "new south," died at Atlanta; born 1820.
1901—Edward Oslovsky Ford, R. A., noted English sculptor, died in London; born 1852.

Dec. 24 In History.

1755—Benjamin Rush, "signer" and eminent medical writer and abolitionist, born in Byberry, Pa.; died 1813.
1814—Treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain signed at Ghent, ending the war of 1812. War was declared by act of congress signed by President Madison June 18, 1812, the reasons being British impressment of Americans for seamen, the British doctrine of blockade and depredations by British subjects upon the commerce of the United States. The treaty of Ghent did not mention these grievances.
1853—William Makepeace Thackeray, English author, died; born 1811.
1893—Rear Admiral Edwin White, U. S. N., died in Brooklyn; born 1812.

Dec. 25 In History.

1665—Samuel de Champlain, founder of Quebec and first governor of New France, died; born at Brouage, France, 1577. Champlain made his first voyage to Canada in 1603 under the auspices of Henry IV. In 1608 he ascended the St. Lawrence and founded Quebec. He discovered the lake which bears his name in 1609.
1787—Daniel Shays broke up the supreme court at Worcester, Mass.—"Shays' insurrection." Shays was an American soldier in the war of the Revolution. The insurrectionists, who arose in 1786, revolted on account of high taxes, the extortions of lawyers, etc. They were suppressed by armed forces soon after the affair at Worcester.

$42.85 Per Head.

There were just 7 voters registered in Newark for the special bond issue election to be held on the 31st instant. The cost to the city for this registration being the sum of $300, makes the cost per each voter who registered the sum of $42.85.

As the cost of the special election will be $400 more, making $700 in all, the public can see at a glance how wise and economical was the plan adopted of refusing to allow the people to vote on the question at the general election and compelling them to turn out at a special election, when it was supposed there would be inclement weather.

But the people may become sufficiently aroused to turn out in much greater numbers than was wanted or expected, regardless of adverse weather conditions.

The Smoot case is up again in the Senate, but it is quite possible that it will never be decided. Senator Smoot has served more than three-fourths of his six year term with the expulsion proceedings hanging over him, which shows that the Republican members of the Senate never intended from the start to allow the matter to be brought to a vote.

Was It Intended That All the People Should Have a Chance to Vote?

The columns of the Advocate are still open for an explanation giving facts and reasons why this water works bond proposition for $280,000 more money was not submitted to the people at the recent general election. And the public demand for this explanation is decidedly on the increase. The great trouble which this special election has caused the voters as well as the extra expense to the taxpayers finds no justification whatever on the part of any of the people who have no other interest than the public welfare. The Advocate again takes occasion to acquaint the public with the fact that its columns are and have been at the service of those from whom the explanation should come.

Did the parties interested want to give ALL THE PEOPLE a chance to vote upon the question, or did they not? That is what the people would like to know, and the information would be of value before they vote on the question next Monday, December 31.

France has kindly determined not to increase the duty on cotton seed or cotton oil, probably because she expects to sell the oil back to us as pure olive oil.

The Newark Board of Education has nothing to explain. It gave all the people a chance to vote on the $60,000 of school bonds at the general election. For some unexplained reason, however, the City Council chose the more limited plan of permitting fewer people to vote on the $280,000 of water works bonds by requiring the submission at a special election on a cold day, when it would be inconvenient, uncomfortable and disagreeable for all the voters to turn out to the polls.

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse; The stockings were hung by the chimney with care, In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there; The children were nestled all snug in their beds, While visions of sugar plums danced in their heads; And mamma in her 'kerchief, and I in my cap, Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap. When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter, I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter. Away to the window I flew like a flash, Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash. The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow Gave the luster of midday to objects below. When, what to my wondering eyes should appear, But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeers, With a little old driver, so lively and quick, I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick. More rapid than eagles his courses they came, And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name: "Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen! On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Dunder and Blitzen! To the top of the porch! to the top of the wall! Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!" As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly, When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky; So up to the housetop the courses they flew, With the sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas, too. And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof The prancing and pawing of each little hoof. As I drew in my head, and was turning around, Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound. He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot, And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot; A bundle of toys he had flung on his back, And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack. His eyes—how they twinkled! his dimples how merry! His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry! His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow, And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow; The stump of his pipe he held tight in his teeth, And the smoke of it encircled his head like a wreath; He had a broad face and a little round belly, That shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly. He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself; A wink of his eye and a twist of his head, Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread; He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work, And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk, And laying his finger aside of his nose, And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose; He sprang up his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle, And away they all flew like the down of a thistle. But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight, "Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night."

A CHRISTMAS STORY

[Written for The Advocate By Ben B. Hoover.]

"Christmas again and nothin' accomplished after all of this time spent in tryin' to make my way, tryin' to do somethin' for the little girls an' Georgia. Poor, poor Georg', how she's stood by me all th' time and been so good to us, an' 'en to think we—I ain't deservin' any good at all. Poor little wife, an' there's Gracie an' little Evelyn. My! Them poor little innocent kids shan't suffer for what I've gone and done. I'll make 'em happy. Sure, I'll have 'em hang up their little socks and I'll fix up like Santa Claus an' 'en—O! for God's sake, why, why ain't I got no money, jest enough to make 'em happy on Christmas." And Gale Wade's big, rough hands went up to his face and big tears trickled down between the grimy fingers as he sobbed like a child and groaned the names of his loving wife and children.

If one could have observed Wade as he sat in that little dark room two nights before Christmas, one would have witnessed the most startling example of the fierce struggle so often waged between man and his conscience, his inner self, his soul. Finally, after sitting for two hours in which time he had risen many times with a stern, almost villanous, gleam in his dark eyes, only to drop back again to his seat sobbing, Gale Wade arose suddenly with drawn, determined features, his eyes speaking his very soul of earnestness. Between his closed teeth he muttered, half audibly: "I'm going to do it. I've got to make 'em happy an' they shan't know. I won't be caught. Caught—Oh if I did get caught! Oh Gale, go ahead; you've done it before. Yes, I've done it before, but this'll be th' last time. I'll make 'em happy an' 'en sometime, maybe sometime, I c'n square it alright."

Quickly, deftly, Wade stepped to a small closet and picked up a few small pieces of cloth from which something hung by a string. It was a wide, dark strip with two small holes about the size of eyes. Wade shuddered as he tucked the bundle under his coat, grasped his cap and started from the room. At the little kitchen door stood two tiny forms clad in clean, but ragged, dresses. One had pretty, brown curls hanging loosely about her neck. She had big brown eyes like her father, only they were much bigger than usual as she watched the snow falling in big flakes outside. She looked possibly 7 years of age. Her sister, age 5, stood by her side dressed much the same but with lighter hair and eyes, like her mother, and wore two neat little braids down her neck, each tied with a pretty, little, clean, white bow. As Gale looked at them he caught his breath, paused and brushed his eyes quickly and carefully. Then he turned and walked toward them. They met him with a smile as he bent and kissed each little pale cheek.

"Where you doin', papie?" asked the smaller one as she tugged at her father's faded coat.

"Jest down town a minute, Honey. Dad'll be back 'fore late. Tell Mama." "A'right; 'Bye," and the little ones called the last word with a wave of their hands as their father left them to "make 'em happy."

The family of Gustave White, dealer in stocks, had retired but a few minutes before 11 o'clock the second night before Christmas. Their residence was a mansion rarely duplicated in many American cities. It was the pride of the fashionable residence street, and in fact the whole district of fashionable, well designed houses.

A song in the broad, mahogany trimmed hallway, leading to a side entrance of the palatial residence, gave out a hollow, resounding signal of the half hour. All was quiet. Presently, the stillness was broken by a slight clicking sound and a glance in the room would have revealed a small, white strip of light flitting nervously from one side of the beautiful room to the other. Stealthily as a cat Wade, for it was he, crept about the room, now stepping here, now there. He would pause but a moment and the narrow stream of light would suddenly disappear from view but soon to reappear. Once a misstep caused the intruder to lurch against a lamp stand. There was a slight scuffle as he caught the falling object and then all was still. In a few seconds the light reappeared and Wade moved cautiously toward a tall, old fashioned, oak cabinet set well back in one corner. A careful movement and all was quiet for a second, and for only a second, for on the quiet air of the silent room rang out the shrill tone of a bell. A click, the lantern was quickly blinded, and Wade gave a horse whisper—"the burglar alarm." But he listened, still and quiet. Presently he heard a faint whisper. His only thought was even then of his family at home for now he was sure that escape would be impossible.

"I dis bet he can't dit froo dere wif all dat stuff an' I bet 'at hell bin' a draat bid lot here 'for Christmas an' hide it. I'm doin' to find out anyhow." Wade recognized it as the voice of a child and, correctly, he guessed from its words, evidently directed to itself, that the little one was about to make a search for presents which Santa was suspected of having brought in advance and stored about the house. Before he could reflect further on what course to pursue, he heard something shoved over the soft carpet and—snap!—the room was flooded with light.

Wade was about to give up without any trouble when all at once a thought came to him which he valued ever after. He had picked up a bright little doll from a display counter and stuck it in his pocket that evening, thinking, as he did so, that it would add one more pleasure for his little ones when he returned from his hazardous visit of the stock dealer's residence. Now, quick as a flash, he reached to his pocket and drew forth the doll and, before the little child who had discovered him, could cry out, he turned his back half toward her and held out the doll, saying: "Here Sweetheart, is one of the things I brought you. Now, you mustn't peep while Santa is bringing your presents so hurry back to bed." How those words stung him, how they hurt deep down in the heart. Only to think that he should deceive this innocent little girl and she was—he looked at her—why she was almost the picture of his own little Evelyn! His heart beat wildly with the fear of capture, but it beat more wildly with the knowledge that he was being worse than a common burglar; that he was playing with the very soul of one like them for whose happiness he had come on this desperate mission.

He had no time to think further for he heard a rustling beneath him, and, turning, he saw, on the stairs, (Continued on Page 7, 6th col.)

His life contained other forms of excitement. Once for a while he found a haven of refuge in a saloon. He did not learn to tiddle, for that is a form of human delinquency that is beyond even a cat. He was regarded as the mascot of the place and grew as sleek and prosperous looking as the owner. One night the saloon blew up from a defective gas main. In removing the ruins the workmen unearthed one piece of debris that emitted a wild yell and shot out of the place like a streak. It was Micawber, denuded of hair, but very much alive. Many emotions were expressed in that yell—pain, rage, terror, hunger and the outraged sense that again his instinct directed him to spot. It was on a table in the kitchen, and with a bound he was upon it. Yes, here was the hole—two of them, in fact. Placing his nose down to the cat, he discovered which was the mouse used. Knowing nothing of the mysteries of traps and that particular one had caught a small mouse only the night before, he sat

JAS. D. VANATTA NOW IN NEWARK

MAN BADLY HURT AT JACKSON
BROUGHT TO HIS HOME
HERE SUNDAY.

He Tells the Advocate That He Does Not Believe the Assassin Was Insane.

James D. Vanatta, the Newark man who was seriously injured in a shooting affray at Jackson, O., a few weeks ago, arrived in this city Sunday over the B. & O. about 1 o'clock. He was met at the train by Bowers & Criss Brothers' ambulance and taken to his home 271 Elmwood avenue, where he is resting very comfortably.

An Advocate reporter interviewed Mr. Vanatta Monday morning. While he is very weak and is forced to breathe very carefully to keep from tearing the lining of the left lung, through which one of the wild assassin's bullets passed, the injured man seems in the best of spirits and is much encouraged by his bright prospects of early recovery.

Mr. Vanatta told the Advocate man the story of the shooting in vivid terms, and expressed no belief in the report that the man who did the shooting became suddenly insane. Mr. Vanatta stated that he had talked with persons who had known the man from early boyhood and that while it is true that he had been in an insane asylum, they state that he has always been of a bloodthirsty, revengeful nature.

One unusual circumstance in connection with the shooting was the fact that Mr. Vanatta was conscious throughout the whole affair. The bullet entered his left breast, near the heart, penetrated the left lung, and came out just above the eighth rib. He was attended constantly by two of Jackson's most prominent physicians.

Since his arrival home, Mr. Vanatta is being attended by Dr. W. B. Nye. He expects to be able to be on his feet some within a week.

mitted to jail by Magistrate Wagner,
following a preliminary examination
on a charge of murder against mother and son, were released from jail by order of Judge Martin, each giving bail in the sum of $5,000. Barry S.
Murphy, an attorney, went on the bond. Offers representing over a million dollars were made by prominent citizens, who were ready and anxious to furnish the bail. Mrs. Gilman was removed in an ambulance to a hospital. The grand jury will soon take up the Dona Gilman murder case.

Paper Turned Over to Ministers.
Kenton, O., Dec. 24.—For one day
Kenton is to have a newspaper conducted and edited as the Disciples of Christ might desire. This city will have union revival services of all the evangelistic churches, beginning Jan. 2.
The News-Republican, a local ten-page daily newspaper, offered its office and paper to the Kenton ministers for one day, Dec. 29, the ministers to have absolute charge of the entire issue.
The ministers accepted the proposition, and will publish 3,000 extra copies and will sell them at 10 cents
each to defray expenses.

Madman at Large.

Lebanon, O., Dec. 24.—A wild man is terrorizing the community surrounding Socialville, 10 miles southwest of here. A new bicycle and a penknife, together with a long manuscript, evidently written by a demented person, were found hidden in Western Row schoolhouse. The man has been seen lurking about this building at night. Weird howls have been heard from that direction for several weeks and a search in the woods has disclosed a hut, built of sod and bark,
having every appearance of being recently occupied.

Coroner Says Murder.

Columbus, O., Dec. 24.—Walter Smith, who died in front of a Greek restaurant, was murdered, according to the opinion of Coroner Murphy
after the post-mortem examination held at the morgue. Smith, who lived on Deming avenue, was with Walter Olbert in the restaurant run by Peter Pappas, when a fight started. The trouble was renewed outside and Ol-bert alleges that Smith was struck by a tall man wearing an overcoat, black stiff hat and having a black mustache.
Smith's neck was broken.

Discharge of Sixtieth Ohio.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Correspondence regarding the muster out of the Sixtieth Ohio regiment of infantry, concerning which Senator Foraker in a speech in the senate took issue with President Roosevelt, was given out at the White House. The correspondence includes letters passing between Brigadier General Daniel Tyler, commanding at Camp Douglas, Chicago,
and officials of the war department and pension office at Washington. In a letter to Adjutant General Thomas
at Washington, dated Chicago, Oct.
22, 1862, General Tyler used the words: "This regiment (the Sixtieth Ohio volunteers) is disorganized, mutinuous and worthless." "The officers,"
he adds, "have not the least control over the men, the men are mutinous,
and I am absolutely without the power to enforce subordination." He asked that the question of the discharge of the regiment be brought before the secretary of war. "It will," General Tyler added, "rid the government of a worthless regiment." Next is a telegram from General Thomas directing the muster-out of the regiment—both officers and men.

What Survivors Say.

Hillsboro, O., Dec. 24.—The charge made by President Roosevelt that he found a precedent for dismissing the negro troops in the discharge of the Sixtieth Ohio regiment during the war of the rebellion created a sensation here, as the regiment was recruited at this point and many of its survivors still reside here. Several of them say that they never knew of a
such blot on the history of the regiment, and each has an honorable discharge from the service.

Smallest Horse in World.

Columbus, O., Dec. 24.—Ohio State university will come into possession of the skeleton of Minnie Speck, the smallest horse in the world. The bones will be mounted and used in class demonstrations in the veterinary college. This diminutive horse, aged 6 years, died of acute indigestion at Pomeroy. When Minnie Speck was a 2-year-old her owner, Ed Wigand of Columbus, carried her about in a dress suit case, exhibiting her at county fairs. She weighed 62 pounds and was 25 inches in height.

Lodging House Row.

Columbus, O., Dec. 24.—Following a night of revelry in a Slavonic boarding house in South Columbus, John Shegaroe received a bullet wound
which resulted in his death at a hospital. The tragedy was the result of a quarrel which attended a celebration over the arrival from Europe of the wife of one of the boarders. Peter Mandish, one of the party, who has disappeared, is suspected, and three other men are held pending an investigation.

Threw Himself From Window.

Lebanon, O., Dec. 24.—Jas. Glenny, 88, an inmate of the county infirmary,
threw himself from a third-story window and was instantly killed. His mind had been affected since last June. He forced his window open and broke the strong bars securing the shutters, then leaped 60 feet to death. Every bone in his body was broken and the remains horribly mangled.

Toledo Catholics Protest.

Toledo, O., Dec. 24.—A large audience assembled at memorial hall to make a protest against the recent action of the French government in relation to the Catholic church in France. The audience was largely composed of people of Catholic faith and the addresses were delivered by local priests.

Vitality Too Low.

Toledo, O., Dec. 24.—David Weinberg, deputy grand commander of the Ohio Modern Maccabees, died at the Toledo hospital. Weinberg was operated on and his entire tongue was removed on account of cancer. He was starved before the operation and his vitality was too low to survive the shock.

To Succeed Corn.

Columbus, O., Dec. 24.—Adjutant General Critchfield issued an order for the nomination of a lieutenant colonel of the Seventh regiment to succeed E. E. Corn of Ironton, who recently was elected to the colonelcy.
The convention will be held in this city Jan. 14.

Granted Continuance.

Toledo, O., Dec. 24.—The federal court here granted a continuance until Jan. 21 in the cases of the Ann Arbor railway and the Toledo Ice and Coal company, indicted on 155 counts
each on a charge of granting and accepting rebates. The bonds were fixed at $10,000.

Aged Cashier.

Norwalk, O., Dec. 24.—Charles W.
Millen, 73, the oldest active bank
cashier in the United States, for 55
years connected with the Norwalk National bank, with John Gardiner as president, is dead.

SCHOOL REFORM

International Association to Make an Effort to Collect Information on Moral Training.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—In England,
France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy
and the United States there has been a steadily growing impression that the schools are not being as well utilized as they might for the purpose of moral training and development of citizenship. A conference to consider the whole matter was held in London
last autumn, resulting in the organization of the international movement for the promotion of moral training in the public schools. This year the international association is to make a systematic effort to collect information as to the best work being done in moral training in the schools of Great Britain, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, America and Japan, and for this purpose will send out several expert commissioners.

JEWS PROTEST

Against Christmas Exercises in the Public Schools.

New York, Dec. 24.—Preparations
for Christmas exercises in the public schools of the city have been under way for some time and have resulted in formal protests to the board of education by the parents of Hebrew children. The board has failed to interfere and it was announced that there would be a strike of Hebrew students on the East Side. The boys and girls refusing to enter the schools unless assured that the Yuletide programs would be abandoned. The matter was taken up by the Hebrew press and the pupils of both reformed and orthodox synagogues.

Education in Philippines.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Secretary
Taft and Dr. David P. Barrows, director of education for the Philippine Islands, spent several hours discussing the educational conditions in the islands with President Roosevelt. Dr.
Barrows told the president that within six or seven years there will be practically no illiterate children
among the seven millions of Christianized Filipinos.

Maximum Gorky, in London, has begun a series of imagination interviews,
the first of which, entitled "One of the kings of the republic" is plainly directed at Rockefeller. To a query as to what he does with his money, Gorky
has the "king" reply: "I make more money with it." "How do you make money?" "Oh, it's very simple. I possess railways. Farmers produce the goods, I put the best on the market.
Now I must see how much money to leave the farmer so he will not starve and continue working and I take the rest for my tariff for transportation."

Asked why the government did not prevent this, the king said, surprised:
"The government has not the right to interfere in private affairs."

TREASURE
ON THE OHIO
Customs Officials Make a Raid on the Big Battleship.

CURIOS FROM THE FAR EAST Enough Rare Works of Art Seized to Start Three Stores — List Shows
Laces, Silks and Valuable Articles of Apparel—Officers and Men Given a Chance to Pay Duty.

New York, Dec. 24.—The big battleship Ohio, just home from the far east,
was raided by United States treasury
officials in the Brooklyn navy yard,
and evidences of wholesale smuggling were discovered. A big seizure of smuggled goods was made. The raid was led by Special Treasury Agent Ralph W. Clayton, in charge of the confidential work of the treasury department in matters relating to customs. The Ohio brought in enough rare works of art and curios from the east to start several stores. No arrests were made.

One officer was compelled to open
his chest, and then the treasury agent
beheld a wonderful collection of goods from the orient. That was only a small part of the big cargo of curios on the battleship. Nearly every one of the 734 men on the ship had an uncomfortable experience when his kit
was opened and dutiable articles exposed to view.

Here is a partial list of goods
seized: Nearly 50,000 cigars, 3,000
brushes and other toilet articles, hundreds of pieces of Chinese and Japanese bric-a-brac, all sorts of quaint ornaments, many cases of champagne
and other wines, dozens of beautiful kimonos, large collections of art objects and curios, many solid silver eggs, engraved with typical Chinese scenes; boxes of finest silks and costly laces that would make the Fifth avenue modistes wild with covetousness.

Most of these goods were thrown in magazine lockers and put under guard. Officers and men were given a chance to pay duty on the goods and reclaim them, except in certain instances. It is understood that most of the officers paid the duty and regained their goods.

Two of these delightful establishments are situated at Long Beach, Cal., and three of them are in, or near the city of Los Angeles, Cal., so that the patient has the choice of any altitude, and any atmosphere
that he or she may choose.

ture, can be obtained from the executive office free of all charge. All correspondence is regarded as confidential and is quite promptly attended to by Dr. Burner personally.
